San Diego State University School of Nursing (SON) seeks to hire a tenure-track faculty member (Associate Professor or Professor rank) with expertise as an Adult Gerontological Nurse Practitioner, to begin Fall 2018. Applicants must hold an earned doctorate [PhD] in nursing or in a related field with a Master’s in adult gerontologic nursing as a nurse practitioner, be eligible for or currently licensed to practice nursing in California, and be certified as an Adult Nurse Practitioner. The successful candidate will possess strong research interest and capability as evidenced by an appropriate history of or potential for research and publication in top-tier refereed journals. Teaching experience at the undergraduate and graduate levels is preferred, as well as demonstrated capacity to lead the Adult Gerontological Nurse Practitioner Program. Salary and benefits are competitive and are commensurate with experience and academic preparation. Application review will begin September 2016, and the position will remain open until it is filled.

The SON has dynamic educational programs, uses creative and innovative teaching methods, and offers research opportunities and support in acquiring funding. The School of Nursing offers the generic baccalaureate RN, BSN, and Master’s degrees, as well as graduate concentrations in Advanced Practice Nursing of Adults and Elderly (NP/CNS), Nursing Leadership in Health Care Systems, and Nurse-Midwifery/ Women’s Health Care Nurse Practitioner. See our website at http://nursing.sdsu.edu for more information.

San Diego State University is the largest university in San Diego and the third largest in California. The highly diverse campus community has a student population of over 36,000 and approximately 5,849 faculty and staff. SDSU is currently designated as a Doctoral / Research-Intensive University by the Carnegie Foundation. Established in 1897, SDSU offers bachelor degrees in 84 areas, masters in 76 and doctorates in 21. See http://www.sdsu.edu for more information. SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all. SDSU is seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups.

The person holding this position is considered a “mandated reporter” under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

SDSU is a Title IX, equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate against persons on the basis of race, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity and expression, marital status, age, disability, pregnancy, medical condition, or covered veteran status.

Interested candidates should apply via Interfolio at https://apply.interfolio.com/36222. For questions, please contact Dr. Willa Fields at wfields@mail.sdsu.edu.

Active Recruitment Resources

To draw a diverse pool of top-quality applicants, include the following steps in your faculty search:

- Actively circulate your job description using professional list serves.
- Attend relevant panels and events at professional conferences to build professional networks.
- When a search is launched, ask department / school faculty to send a “dear colleague” letter (see sample below) to graduate advisors and colleagues at other institutions who may help identify prospective applicants.
- Use the searchable UC Chancellor’s Postdoctoral Fellows Directory to locate additional prospective applicants who may wish to build their career in the state of California: http://ppfp.ucop.edu/info/fellowship-recipients/fellows-2016/fellows-2016-name/index.html
- Consider as potential applicants candidates who already hold assistant professorships but may want to relocate to California
- Once you have built a list of prospective applicants from personal and professional contacts and the UC directory, send each individual a personalized “dear prospective applicant letter” (see sample below).

Sample “Dear Colleague” Letter/Email

Dear colleague:

Our department is currently seeking to fill a position in [brief description here], and I am writing to ask your help in identifying outstanding prospective faculty members.

As large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution, SDSU is seeking excellent scholars and teachers who will transform their fields and who share our campus commitment to diversity and inclusion. SDSU is consistently recognized by U.S. News and World Report as one of the most ethnically diverse universities in the country and by CampusPride.org as among the top 20 most LGBT-friendly campuses in the nation. I would appreciate your help in identifying potential job candidates who meet any of the follow criteria:

- Is engaged in service with underrepresented populations in higher education
- Demonstrates knowledge of barriers for underrepresented students and faculty in higher education
- Has experience or demonstrated commitment to teaching and mentoring underrepresented students
- Integrates understanding of underrepresented populations and communities into research
- Extends knowledge of how to achieve artistic or scholarly success as a member of an underrepresented group
- Is committed to research that engages underrepresented communities
- Shows expertise in cross-cultural communication and collaboration
- Has research interests that contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education

If you are aware of any potential faculty members (including assistant professors) who might consider a move to San Diego and San Diego State University, please share with them our job listing posted at Interfolio: [listing address here], or reply to this email. I would be happy to reach out to your contacts individually, share this opportunity, and invite them to apply.

Sincerely,
Sample Letter/Email to Prospective Applicant

Dear [prospective applicant—personalize by name]:

Our department is currently searching for [brief position description here]. Our colleague [name here] recommended you to our consideration, and I am writing to encourage you to apply. Our position is listed on Interfolio at [Interfolio ad address here].

SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence, and we are seeking excellent scholars and teachers who will transform their fields and who share our commitment to diversity. SDSU is consistently recognized by U.S. News and World Report as one of the most ethnically diverse universities in the country and by CampusPride.org as among the top 20 most LGBT-friendly campuses in the nation. Our campus was selected for the third consecutive year as a recipient of the INSIGHT Into Diversity Higher Education Excellence in Diversity Award (HEED), a national honor recognizing U.S. colleges and universities that demonstrate outstanding commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Should you have any questions about this position, please contact me directly. For questions related to diversity and inclusion outside of our formal search process, you may also contact Dr. Aaron Bruce, Chief Diversity Office, at abruce@mail.sdsu.edu.

We appreciate your interest and wish you every success in your career.

Sincerely,
Sample Language for Candidate Communications

For candidates not selected for interview: “Thank you for applying for our recently advertised position in _______. The Search Committee has reviewed all the applications and, regrettfully, your candidacy was not successful. We received many excellent applications, including yours, and the Committee’s decision was not an easy one. I thank you for your application and extend my best wishes for your career.”

For candidates interviewed but not offered a position: “Thank you for coming in to meet the Search Committee and members of our department with respect to your application for the position in ___. We very much enjoyed meeting with you. Regrettfully, after thorough and careful consideration of the qualifications of each of the persons interviewed, an offer has been made to another candidate. Thank you again for your interest and please accept our very best wishes for your future career.”

For candidates receiving and accepting an appointment offer: “Congratulations on joining the faculty at SDSU! I will be processing your appointment paperwork, and prior to getting started I will need your home mailing address, SSN, and DOB to generate a Red ID number for you. A Red ID is your personal identification number, which is used to conduct all university business by faculty, staff, and students. Due to the sensitive nature of that information, please do not send via email, kindly call me with it at your earliest convenience. Also, please complete the attached Employment Eligibility Form and return (via email) at your earliest convenience. Thank you.”
Guidelines for Asking Questions during the Search Process

Appropriate questions focus on candidate credentials and experience in teaching, research / scholarship / creative activity and service, such as the following:

- Describe your current research / scholarship / creative activity.
- What do you think are your greatest strengths as a researcher and scholar?
- Describe your style of teaching and interacting with students.
- How do you utilize technology in the classroom?
- How do you engage students, particularly in a course for non-majors?
- What innovations have you brought to the teaching of ___?
- Describe your favorite courses taught or proposed in the past five years.
- How do you define excellence in teaching?
- Describe your philosophy and experiences regarding the importance of diversity in teaching, research and society and how you foster multicultural skills in the classroom.
- What experience do you have successfully supporting achievement by diverse students?
- What roles have your students played in your research program to date?
- What do you know about San Diego State University that encourages your interest in this position?

It is inappropriate and illegal at all stages of the search process to ask questions such as the following:

- Questions directed specifically to candidates of one sex, sexuality, gender identity or expression, racial, ethnic, or religious group, and not to all candidates.
- Questions about race, color, place of birth, national and family origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, disability, age or ancestry.
- Questions about past, present, or future marital status, pregnancy, plans for a family, or childcare issues.
- Questions about weight and height, state of health, or disabilities.
- Questions about a candidate's native-born or naturalized status. You may ask if a candidate is eligible to work in the US.
- Questions about a candidate's native tongue or how foreign language ability has been acquired. You may ask about foreign language skills if the position requires such ability.
- Questions about loans, financial obligations, wage attachments or personal bankruptcies.

Potential reference check questions include the following:

- How long have you known _____ and in what capacity?
- How would you characterize their accomplishments and strengths as a researcher / scholar / artist?
- If you have observed them teaching, what strengths do they bring to the classroom? Areas of concern?
- Describe their commitment to diversity in teaching, service, and / or research.
- Would you hire or rehire them for a faculty position in your department? Why or why not?
- What have they accomplished and planned for scholarship and research, and what kinds of support do you think he/she would need to be successful as a scholar?
- Is there anything else you can tell me about him/her that would be helpful for our search committee to know? (You may inquire as to any outstanding conduct issues or issues with students.)
